

A PERMANENT CENSUS.

A BILL TO Establish It Prepared by Supt. Porter.

HE GIVES HIS REASON FOR SO DOING AND SHOWS THE ADVANTAGES THAT WOULD RESULT-CHANGES MADE FROM THE PRESENT ARRANGEMENT AND WHY THEY WERE SUGGESTED.

Senate Hale will introduce in the Senate a bill for establishing a permanent census bureau. A report on the same subject has been prepared by Supt. Porter in response to a resolution adopted by the Senate in February last.

In connection with the preparation of the report the superintendent has been in correspondence with the chambers of commerce and boards of trade of the principal cities of the country, with offices of state boards of health, state bureaus of labor and agricultural organizations, state superintendents of education, bishops and other prominent churchmen and officers of institutions for the insane, deaf, blind, etc., all of whom are necessarily interested in the proposed legislation. In the preparation of the present system of collecting and compiling census statistics, the views expressed in response to his letter of inquiry show the report a wonderful unanimity of opinion among all classes throughout the United States.

He has also received letters from eminent statisticians in Europe, including Dr. August Meitzen of Berlin, Dr. von Schenck, director of the German imperial statistical office; Dr. Robert Gifford and Sir Rowan W. Dawson of London and Dr. Emile Lavassure of Paris.

In commenting upon the bill which he drafted Supt. Porter says:

MIL. PORTER'S AGE.

"In the preparation of the bill herewith submitted I have endeavored to retain the main features of the present census law, strengthen it by making it more effective, and amending it in all the weak spots revealed by the experience of the eleventh census."

The new bill provides for a superintendent of census, chief clerk, disbursing officer and five clerks, to be employed together with an office force, the aggregate cost of which will not exceed $200,000 annually. The chiefs of division, who are to receive $2,500 per annum, must be experts—not merely head clerks—but thoroughly trained in statistical methods. The chief clerk, four clerks, and two assistants will be paid $1,000 each.
